Company history/background

After several years of searching for work, I decided to start my own business as a freelancer in a different field, organizing activities and events for parties and social gatherings. This led me to create BigBigGames.

A company whose goal is to provide its customers with enjoyable experiences. Easy and fun to run, with virtually no fixed costs other than storage for materials and fuel for transportation. And with excellent profit potential or the ability to easily delegate work to employees.

Fortunately, I landed a very good job, which I initially combined with running this small business. However, a lack of time has forced me to focus more on my new job. That's why the business is now for sale.

BigBigGames (the company) organizes large-scale gaming activities for young people and adults. You can see the two games we currently offer on their website.

The first is called bubble football, incredibly fun and hilarious. Its main gameplay revolves around a football match where players wear bubbles that protect them from impacts. They are also encouraged to make impacts as part of the game to knock down their opponents. This activity thrills both players and spectators.

The second game or activity is archery combat, in which two teams equipped with bows and padded arrows will eliminate each other, and the last team with at least one player standing will win.

These activities are specially designed for bachelor parties, birthday parties, town festival events, or anything else you can imagine.

Unique selling points

This type of business can accommodate countless other activities, such as zorbing or other adventure tourism activities. Therefore, with the right dedication, it can experience significant growth.

The great advantage of this type of business is its low operating costs. Since there are no fixed expenses, most of the revenue becomes profit. Consequently, the owner's main task is to find customers, an activity common to all businesses today.

Another advantage of this business is that once a clientele is established, if a trustworthy employee or employees are obtained, all activities can be delegated to them, making the owner more free.

Therefore, the strengths of this company are its low overhead, its ample time frame for the owner and employees, and the possibility of growth in a short period.

Other

This business opportunity is for those who want to start a project at a low cost, but with all the necessary infrastructure already in place. It's easy, fun, and requires neither prior knowledge nor a large amount of capital.

I recommend this company to those who want to be their own boss without going through the ordeal of setting up their business.
